City & Guilds Professional Recognition Awards (PRAs) through CVQO
Webinar 2020

The City & Guilds Professional Recognition Awards in Leadership and Management (PRAs) are accredited qualifications which represent a vocational route to higher education. Through CVQO which is a UK education charity providing internationally-accredited vocational qualifications to members of uniformed youth groups - including the HKACC, PRAs have been developed for our adult volunteers at the highest professional levels within their chosen careers. PRAs do not only enable candidates to demonstrate their knowledge and skills within any position in both HKACC and their workplaces, but also help candidates working towards higher level qualifications.

PRA candidates only have to show City & Guilds that they have sufficient experience of leadership and management to justify their awards instead of attending any course. In addition to gaining a formal qualification, completing PRA will also entitle graduates to use the following appropriate, internationally recognised post-nominal letters for the City and Guilds of London Institute: LCGI, AfCGI, GCGI and MCGI.
